

IPRA PRACTICAL WORKSHOPS

Please join us for practical discussions relevant to your forecourt

11AM: GREEN BUSINESS IS SMART BUSINESS

with Alan Makim of AIB discussing the funding model for LED fit outs; Charlie Grendon of Get Solutions discussing energy management solutions; and James Hogan of Green Business discussing the identification of opportunities for stations to reduce waste, energy and water consumption.

James Hogan, Green Business Programme Manager, Clean Technology Centre, CIT, Cork

Since 2011, James has been Programme Manager of the Green Business Programme which is funded by the National Waste Prevention Programme.

The Green Business Programme is a free resource efficiency service for business which assists business to identify opportunities for reducing waste, energy and water consumption. Green Business has identified more than €10 million potential cost savings in 250 businesses in the last 6 years.

Along with AIB and Get Solutions James will discuss how the Green Business programme works relative to petrol stations and outline how easily companies of all sizes can reduced utility costs while improving their sustainability.

12 NOON: INSPECTION AND VERIFICATION OF LIQUID FUEL DISPENSERS

with Paul Turner of the National Standards Authority of Ireland Head of Legal Metrology

NSAI Legal Metrology is the statutory body responsible for regulating and supervising weights and measures in the Republic of Ireland. This is achieved through the setting and implementing of controls on measuring instruments used in trading transactions and monitoring the manufacture and distribution of pre-packaged consumer products sold by quantity. The requirements and obligations set out in the two Metrology Acts provide significant protections for consumers and help to ensure fair trading conditions for businesses. The legislation also provides for the imposition of substantial penalties on persons or businesses found guilty of offences. These protections underpin trade equity and consumer confidence which contribute significantly to the stability of the economy.

1PM: LEGAL ISSUES FACING TODAY'S PETROL RETAILER WITH A FOCUS ON EMPLOYMENT, PERSONAL INJURY AND DEFAMATION CLAIMS

with Einde O'Donnell of Purdy FitzGerald Solicitors

PURDY FITZGERALD
SOLICITORS

Einde is a solicitor who has extensive experience in all aspects of employment law, employers' liability and health and safety at work. Einde also has vast experience in dealing with personal injury litigation both from a defence and a plaintiff's perspective. He has advised Irish and international insurance companies in relation to all aspects of insurance litigation, including employers' liability, public liability, product liability and motor claims. He also advises self-insured companies in relation to risk management practices and handling of claims.

